Who We Are

For 14.5 million children in America living in poverty, challenges outside the classroom, like the lack of adequate food, clothing, shelter, and health care, can stand in the way of success inside the classroom. At Communities In Schools, we work in schools to remove those barriers by building one-on-one relationships and providing integrated student supports to at-risk students, that empower them to stay in school and succeed in life. Whether it is clean clothes, help with school work, or emotional support to help a child cope with and recover from a traumatic event, we connect students with the relationships and resources they need to succeed.

Communities In Schools fuels personal potential, so students can take charge of their story.

We believe greatness exists in every child.

We see potential coursing through them, a promise waiting to be realized.

So we go where they need us—understanding their needs and listening to their dreams from the inside-out and the outside-in.

And in every step we take together, we help them find the strength and confidence to look within and see what we see—a bright future that's theirs for the taking.

Community by community, school by school, child by child—we are all in this together.

All in for kids
